Mr. Parnell s great brought him into promiseroe."
James Jeffrey Roche, editor of the Boston Piol, said: "The effect of Mr. Parnell's death will undoubtedly be to haston the dissolution of the Parnellite party, so-called. That is an obvious thing, because personal devotion to the old leader has been largely the bond of union. I consider Parnell the greatest leader and statesman that Ireland has ever produced, when you consider the limited resources and scanty following at his command when he began the struggle. Unfortunately, in his short life, he yet outlived his own popularity. His death will not retard the home rule movement among the Irish people. The movement among the Irish people. The movement has gone beyond the control of any leader."

Mr. James Mooney, of Buffalo, expresident of the Irish National Land League of America, said: I have learned of Parnell's death with sincere sorrow. I regret it most assuredly. I think that Parnell has done a great deal for the Irish cause in the past—a very great work, certainly. Beginning a dozen years ago he has shown a persistency, intelligence, and courage which has achieved results. His death, however, will not, in my opinion, seriously retard the cause of home rule. I consider the virtual and actual leader now is John Dillon."

rusly retard the cause of home rule. I conider the virtual and actual leader now is John Dillon."

Postmaster John Field of Philadelphia, treasarer of the local branch of the Irish National League, said: "I am very sorry. He has done great good in the past, and I regret his death very much. All the rights and privileges which the tenants of Ireland enjoy to-day have been gotten through the efforts of Parnell. In my judgment it becomes all lovers of the Irish ause and liberty to look on the good side of his life and throw the mantle of charity over his great mistake."

Mr. Patrick Martin. a merchant of Buffalo ind First Vice-President of the National League during the domination of Parnell, says hat his efforts in behalf of Ireland cannot be forgotten, whatever may be the differences existing regarding his later acts. To Parnell belougs the honor of bringing before the civilized world the cause of Ireland, and to Parnell might fairly be awarded also the credit of winning to the side of Ireland the giant intellect and persistent advocacy of diadstone.

"This is the greatest blessing the Lord has bestowed upon Ireland during the years of her suffering and struggle. I say, with all reverence and with an appreciation of the sadness of the blow to his relatives and immediate friends, that the death of Parnell All the factions, both in this country and in Europe, will come together and work as one man for the cause of Ireland. Since the O'Shea scandal divided our people Parnell has been a source of irritation and the cause of Ireland has been injured by the contentions. I think now all the trouble will be cured at once. Parnell has done great work for Ireland and has deserved all the popularity he once enjoyed, but since that unfortunate affair he has been an obstruction to the progress of our cause. All factions will now come together and the "work will

Had he nmediately after his vindication from the ground against his course in the divorce matter. His death will undoubtedly have the effect of uniting the separate forces. Had he died immediately after his vindication from the fines obarges he would have gone down to posterity as a remarkable man, and as far as the cutside world would have known, as a patriot. But after this matter became public his course was anything but patriotic. He seemed to think of nothing but the dictates of his own selfishness. The men behind the scenes knew of his infatuation for Mrs. O'shea for many years before it became publicly known. He could never be found when wanted and often disappeared most mysteriously for several months at a time. His supporters in Parliament after vainly waiting for his return effects started out on lines which their own experience and sagacity suggested, and when they were fully under way Mr. Parsell would return and take an exactly opposite position. During all these years the leaders leared a scandal, and to do all in their power to avert it, they credited Parnell with what they themselves had done. Hemember, I do not lesson in any way the things which he did years ago. He certainly was a remarkable man, and he deserves credit for all his good work. But from the day he became intimate with Mrs. O'Shes he did absolutely nothing. I wrote letters to him, asking his opinion on certain matters of great moment, but he never answered them. Mr. Dillon and Mr. O'Brien, who were fully aware of the impending scandal, took necredit to themselves for all their work, but gave out that Parnell had done it. They underrated their own efforts and magnified his. The hero worship which the Irish people have bestowed upon Parnell day done it from underrated their own efforts and magnified his. SIR JOHN POPE HENNESSY DEAD. The Man Who Cave Parnell Ris First De-feat at the Polls After the Seandal.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir John Pope Hennessy member of Parliament for North Kilkenny, died to-day at Queenstown. Bir John, it will be remembered, immediately after the ex-posures in the O'Shea divorce case in December, 1890, contested the North Kilkenny elec-tion, backed up by Mr. Parnell's opponents, and defeated the Parnellite candidate, Mr. Vincent Scully, by 1,147 votes. This was a great, and possibly the greatest, test of strength between the Parnellites and McCarthyites, and the defeat of Mr. Scully no doubt counted for a great deal in the future series of disaster which befell the Irish leader. His death is said to have been due to the mental and physical strain to which he was subjected as one of the consequences of the political contest in North Kilkenny.

Sir John Pope Honnessy was a native of Cork. and was born in 1834. He was elected to Parliament for King's county in 1859, and as a reward for faithful service, was appointed Governor of Labuan in 1867. In 1872 he got the better position of Governor of the West African settlements, and in 1873 the Governor of the Windward Islands in 1875, of Hong Kong in 1877, and of Mauritius in 1882. His conduct as Governor of Mauritius was investigated by Sir Hercules Hobinson as special Commissioner, and Sir John was recalled the returned to London, laid the affair before the Secretary of State, vindicated himself, and was restored to the office for the remainder of the term. As further reparation he was congratulated in a public despatch by the Secretary of State when he retired, and got the full pension of a Colonial Governor. He was a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael. Sir John was something of a writer, as his frequent contributions to magazines showed. He was a son of John Hennessy of Ballyhennessy, county Kerry, and he married a daughter of Sir Henry Low.

Rechester was nominated for Senator. Rochester of the Twenty-ninth district, composing Monroe and Orieans counties, to-day nominated Frank S. Upton of this city. Senator McNaughton declined a renomination.

Albany, Oct. 7.—The adjourned Judicial Conventions of the Republican and Demogratic parties in the Third district, to nominate a Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Judge Learned, are to convene here to-morrow. The Demogratic Convention will be called to order at noon. D. Cady Herrick and County Judge Clute were put in nomination at the last session of the Convention. Mr. Herrick said to-night that he had not changed his position, and would not dissuss the matter further. It looks as though a third man from this county would be nominated. The Republican Convention will convene at 3 o'clock, and the nomination of their candidate will depend a good deal upon the result of the strife in the Democratic Convention.

Article 18 of the new constitution, which was adopted last night, provides that "the County Committee shall have supervisory powers over all county, city, district, town, and township nominating conventions, and whenever it shall appear on the complaint of five Republicans that any such Convention has nominated a candidate in an irregular or illegal manner, or any candidate not a Republican, said County Committee shall have power, after investigation and hearing to overrule such nominations, and to order a new primary election and a new Convention if there shall be sufficient time therefor under the laws of the State, and if there shall not be time therfor, to name candidates, and such candidates when so named by the County Committee shall be deemed to be the regular Republican nominees."

The basis of ropresentation is fixed at one delegate for each 100 Republican votes in excess of 700 cast for the Republican candidate for Assembly at the last preceding election.

Ex-Mayor Becker was elected Chairman of the meeting. He said on taking the chair:

CHAPIN'S SOLE REQUEST. IF STEGLER IS NOMINATED HE WANTS

Republicans Cooling Toward Elegier — Baggett Says He Is a Mugwump, and Gave Only $50 to Help Elect Harrison.

Some progress was made yesterday toward the solution of the difficult Mayoralty problem in Brooklyn by the appearance of a letter from Mayor Chapin, clearly defining his position in the matter. Mr. Chapin has no desire to run nominated by the Republicans. The letter, which is addressed to Congressman David A. Boody as Chairman of the Twenty-second ward delegation to the city Convention, is as

"My DEAR SIR: Upon the return of the Brooklyn delegates from the State Convention I spoke, in a public interview, of the extreme friendliness and warmth of feeling which had been shown to me by my political associates in

"It was pleasant to do this much, in recognition of the obligation which had been placed upon me by my party friends. My politica activity, including this present year, covers a period of ten consecutive years, two spent in the Legislature, four in a State office, and four citizen's duty to hold office when summoned. severtheless it cannot be said that there is any greater obligation imposed upon me in that direction than has already been fulfilled.

delegation to the State Convention for the the State, and the consistent and determined attitude accompanying that presentation, constituted an emphatic commendation of my record in public office. If I now withdraw from office no personal feeling is disappointed. no political propriety or necessity is disregarded, and no party tradition, substantial or fancied, is impaired. "The members of the city Convention have been chosen. I have made no suggestion what-ever as to who should be sent to it. I notice, owever, that a large number of the delegates however, that a large number of the delegates are not only my political but my personal friends as well.

But I have held the office of Mayor for two terms. I have no desire or ambition to fill the office again. Any reasonable ambition has already been gratified. In ordinary circumstances I should not ask my party to depart from the unwritten law which is against three consecutive terms of that office for any man. My preference is to leave the office. My record is made and is open.

But I have seen a letter in the public press and it has been coupled with the suggestion that the Republican campaign will be made against me personally as an official and as a man. If such be the plan, and if it be the intent of our opponents, in pursuance of this plan, to nominate for Mayor the champion of my accusers. I feel that the issue will constitute a wanton, offensive, and personal attack upon me as an official and as a man. That issue I am ready to face, and I think that in such circumstances I have the right to face my accusers before the people, that they may decide between us.

"If such plan, however, be not carried out," decide between us.

"If such plan, however, be not carried out, and the man I describe be not nominated, I shall not ask my friends to consider my name for Mayor, but I shall remain content with the high honors which my fellow citizens have conferred upon me. Sincerely, C. Chapin."

"ALFRED C. Chapin."

high honors which my reliow citizens have conferred upon me. Sincerely.

"ALFRED C. CHAPIR."

The Democratic leaders now admit that the honor of the Brooklyn Democracy is involved in the bitter assault made upon Mr. Chapin by Mr. Ziegler, and a majority of them recognize the force of the Mayor's appeal in his own behalf. On Saturday night, therefore, when the Convention meets, it will probably name him as the candidate if the Republicans carry out their avowed purpose of nominating Mr. Ziegler. As the frival conventions will meet simultaneously, the result may remain in uncertainty until the last moment. Mr. Ziegler has not positively declared that he would accept a nomination, but his closest friends have given it out that he would jump at it if he were assured that Mr. Chapin would be his competitor. There are indications, however, that the enthusiasm of the Republican leaders has grown considerably weaker in regard to Mr. Ziegler within a few days, while "the boys" have been shocked at the disclosure that during the five years he occupied his handsome house on the Heights he did not take interest enough in politics to vote, or even to register. On top of this comes a despatch from Washington, from ex-Senator Albert Daggett, who is generally admitted to have been the brightest Republican leader in Brooklyn, declaring that Mr. Ziegler is a Mugwump, and that although several times a millionaire, he could not be induced to part with more than $50 to aid in the election of the last Presidential candidate. Yesterday Republican estatesmen were telling each other what a fine Mayoralty candidate Francis H. Wilson, the President of the Union League Club, would make.

In the event of Mr. Chapin's elimination from the context either District Attorney Ridge.

President of the Union League Club, would make.

In the event of Mr. Chapin's elimination from the contest either District Attorney Ridgway, ex-Postmaster Hendrix, or Gen. John B. Woodward will almost assuredly be the Democratic candidate. Strong pressure is being brought on the leaders in favor of Mr. Hendrix, who admittedly is much stronger now than when he made such a gallant fight against Seth Low eight years ago, but Mr. Hendrix hinself is attending strictly to his duties as a bank President, and has made no effort to secure the nomination. The popular sentiment in the party ranks is unmistakably toward Mr. Ridgway, who makes no secret of his aspirations.

sentiment in the party ranks is unmistakably toward Mr. Ridgway, who makes no secret of his aspirations.

Although interest is so much engrossed in the local contest, the Campaign Committee is devoting much time to the canvass for the State ticket, and no effort will be spared to give Flower and Sheehan an old-time majority in Mngs county. Arrangements have been mads for three big mass meetings, and the dates have been lixed for Oct. 14, Oct. 21, and Oct. 28. The first two will be held at the Clermont avenue rink, and the final rally at the Academy of Music. Senator Gorman, if possible will be secured for the first meeting.

From the fact that a very earnest discussion took place at a late hour last night between a number of the Democratic leaders as to the relative strength of Mr. Hendrix and Gen. Woodward, it was thought by some that Mr. Chapin's name might not come before the Convention, and that the nomination would go either to theex-Postmaster or Gen. Woodward. There were also some indications that Mr. Hendrix was the coming man. It is only a few years ago that Gen. Woodward ran for the Mayoraty on an independent ticket, and this fact, it is believed, will strongly operate against him in the present political crisis. There has been intimation that the friends of Mr. Ridgeway will feel resentful if he is forced to step aside, and that they may possibly raise a hubbub in the Convention.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES FOR ASSEMBLY. Assembly Conventions were held by the Democrats yesterday in the twelve districts in Kings county, and these nominations were made:

pounty, and these nominations w First District—Joseph J. Cabill. Second District—William J. Plaus. Third District—John Cooney. Fourth District—John S. O'Connor. Fifth District—John Kelly. Sixth District—John Kelly. Sixth District—John Cooney. Eighth District—James Quigley. Ninth District—James Quigley. Ninth District—Henry F. Cochrane. Tenth District—James Pursa. Twelfth District—James Pursa.

Tweith District—Thomas Burns.

Tweith District—James F. Graham.

No nomination was made in the Eleventh district, which is almost hopelessly Republican, but to-morrow night the Convention will reassemble and name the strongest man who can be found, the Democracy being determined to make a fight for the legislative offices all along the line. All the candidates named, with the exception of Plaut in the Second, Ott in the Seventh, Cochrane in the Ninth, and Graham in the Tweifth, ropresented their districts in the Assembly last year, and some of them for two or three terms. Graham, who has been substituted for Mortimer C. Earl in the Tweifth, is a leader in the labor organization, and he formerly represented the same district in Albany. Last year the Democrate elected eleven of the twelve Assemblyman, but they will be entirely satisfied this year if they elect ten, as under normal conditions the Republicans have a walkover in the Ninth and Eleventh districts.

Edward Floyd-Jones for Senator. Mayor Gleason of Long Island City was on hand with a contesting delegation at the Democratic Convention of the First Senate district comprising Queens and Suffolk counties, held in Jamaica yesterday. He made a speech to the Convention in which he asserted that he paid the expenses of his own candidates him-self and that he never boited a nomination. The Convention declined to recognize his delegates.

Edward Floyd-Jones of Massapegna was the only candidate named. At the request of the Buffolk county delegation an informal ballot was first taken that they might give a complimentary vote to Edward Hawkins, the retiring Senator. Mr. Floyd-Jones received the full vote of the Convention on the formal ballot and was declared the Democratic nomines for Senator from the First district.

EX-COLLECTOR ROBERTSON

Declines a Renomination for Senator and Talks About National Politics.

Ex-Collector William H. Bobertson, who had just declined a renomination for State Senator in the Republican Senate Convention at Tarry town, was met by a reporter yesterday evening at White Plains and had this to say about the State and national issues:

"Fassett will win and the whole Republican ticket will win with him. There can be no question about it. Our nominee for Governor is a very able, clever man. Flower is personally a most desirable candidate—for the Democracy—but even if he had a weak opponent his chances would be very slight. If Flower should by any chance be Governor of the State of New York this fall. nothing could prevent his nomination for the Presidency in '92. Cleveland is out of it. He against him. Hill is a far abler man than he is credited with being. After Saratoga they said he was dead politically. I wonder if they think so now. If he were not the Democratio Governor he would be a mighty good fellow. If Blaine wants the nomination he can have it, and if he takes it he will sweep the country as no man everdid before. Thousands of Democrats will vote for him, because he is a typical American. Reciprocity, the Italian business; in fact, his whole course since he has been at the head of the State Department, have stamped him as the greatest living American. He is easily the first in this country, Mr. Harrison has been a good President, and it is natural for him to wish for a recelection. He must have the renomination first, though. But it does not matter, the Republicans will win in any event.

"Coming to myself, the reason that I declined the nomination that was tendered me this afternoon was this; My law practice takes up all my time. I cannot serve two masters, and while I appreciate the compliment paid me by the voters of Westchester and Rockland counties. I could not conscientiously accept the nomination to an office to which, if elected, I would not be able to devote my whole time. Bradford F. Rhodes of Searsdale, who was nominated by acclamation after my declination, is a young man who has served two terms in the Assembly, and during his last term was Chairman of the Banking Committee. There can be no doubt that he will make a good representative."

The Republican Senate Convention of the Twelfth district was held at the Franklin House at Tarrytown yesterday noon. There were twenty delegates present, fifteen from Westchester and five from Rockland county. The Chairman was Edward Long. Clarence Lexow nominated Mr. Robertson, and the nomination was made unanimous, but was declined. Then D. W. Travis of Peakskill proposed the name of Bradford F. Rhodes, and this nomination was also made unanimous. It was accepted in a brief speech by the nomineo. The proceedings lasted only half an hour. said he was dead politically. All last evening, at the new headquarters of the committee in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the Committee on Nominations labored to select the candidates for the various Judgeships and the Coroners. Many names were suggested, but the most prominent were:

For candidates for Supreme Court Judges, Cephas Brainard of the Third district and Edward T. Bartlett, ex-President of the Republican Club; for Superior Court Judge, Myer S. Isaacs of the Twenty-first district; for Judges of the Court of Common Pleas, J. Langdon Ward of the Seventh district and Charles G. Cronin of the Nineteenth; for Judges of the City Court, Henry Grasse of the Twenty-third district, William H. Townley of the Fourth, Charles S. Sears of the Seventh, and N. A. Prentice of the Eleventh. For Coroners, ex-Coroner John R. Nugent of the Fourteenth, William Wainman of the Sixth, and George W. W. Cram of the Fourth.

Ex-Senator Platt, William Brockfield, Chairman of the State Committee, and others participated in the deliberations of the Committee on Nominations. The difficulty seems to be to get any candidates for the places named. It was decided to have the committee meet again this afternoon at 4 o'clock. In the mean time some of the gentlemen named above will be seen and urged to accept nominations.

R. A. Cunningham of the County Democracy announced at the Hoffman House last evening John J. Scannell, in the Spinols district. While he was thus occupied Mr. Scannell was campaigning. He made two speeches during the The Steckler Committee met last evenin and talked. It is said that no discussion of the question of the attitude of the petty personal party on the State tickot was indulged in. Local matters were not thus neglected, but their consideration led to no conclusions. It looks as though the party has no Moses to lead it to the promised land, no Columbus to show it how to stand its goose egg up on end. Butherford B. Hayes is on his annual visit to New York to attend the meeting of the trustees of the Penbody Fund. Travelling expenses, hotel bills, and a grand banquet are the perquisitos of this office, and Mr. Hayes enjoys them greatly. When asked for an interview he said: "My lips have been sealed on the subject of politics for many years and they will remain so."

The County Democracy committee of seventy-two met in the New Amsterdam Club house nat night, and discussed the manifesto which has been prepared concerning the Baratoga Convention and other matters of campaign interest. was held last night in the club room, 242 Grand street. Charles Siver Dollar Smith presided. Barney Rourke occupied a back seat, and assured wavering members that the association was stronger than ever. The Treasure was kept busy raking in dues. One hundred apiece. This was nearly $100 less than the receipts at the last meeting, but Silver Dollar explained that it was because the meeting was so brief that they had not time to get around. Silver Dollar Smith opened the meeting by pounding the desk with the minute book. The roll call was dispensed with because Brodsky has the books of the association. The associ roll call was dispensed with because Brodsky has the books of the association. The association had not elected officers for six years until last night. The Committee on Nominations read the list and all the candidates named in it were elected by acclamation. They were: President, Barney Rourke; Vice-Presidents, Bilvor Dollar Smith and Henry Von der Wyck: Treasurer, Fred. J. Seelig: Secretaries, Henry Loewy and Benson M. Levy: Sergeantat-Arms, Charles Raab. Executive Committee—Edward J. Spaulding, Chairman; William T. O'Brien. James McManus, Morris Isaacs, Maurice H. Gottlieb, and the regular officers. House Committee—Julius Simon. Chairman: Frank Wilson, Ernest Otto, John Noedles, Isay Ratz, J. J. Flansgan, and Henry Henschel.

The special committee appointed to consider the resignations of the Brodsky clique announced that they had not finished their work. The resignations of Brodsky, Goetz, Maske, Griffith, and Brunkhorst were laid over. This was done in order to give the Brodskyites a chance to hand over the books. A contest was begun yesterday in the Surro gate's Court over the will of Charlotte M. Hutchngs, who died at 70 years of age on April 4 last at her residence at Lexington avenue and Jessie A. Barlow, a niece, and George W. Brown, a nephew, of the testatrix. By the will her property, worth about $100,000, was left to her husband, Jacob B. Hutchings.

The contestants declare that Mrs. Hutchings did not leave her residence for ten years prior to her death, and that her relatives were not allowed to see her when they called at the house. When they asked for an order for the examination of the husband before trial, they say, the motion was opposed on the ground that he had become mentally incapacitated and was in feeble health. He was several years older than the testatrix.

The trial will not be resumed for several weeks.

Mr. Brunswick said that it was proposed to organize all the girls in the sewing trades, especially those employed on underwear. It was a fact that there were many thousands of unorganized sewing girls in the city, so that the Lady Gotham Association had a large field before it.

It is expected that at the next meeting at least three new trades will be organized.

Miss Della Maloney, President of the Lady Gotham Association, said after the meeting:

"Our principal aim is to organize the girls employed at underwoar first. Their earnings are miserable, and they are veritable white slaves. They work from 7:30 or 8 A. M. until 6 P. M., and experts by doing their best can earn only $1 a day, while a great many do not earn more than 55 cents a day. To earn even this they have to work very hard."

Information was received at headquarters yesterday which will be made up into a campaign document. It concerns Mr. Fassett's labor record, and includes his action in the caucus of Republican Senators on the nomination of Michael Rickard, a locomotive engineer, whose name was sent in for Haliroad Commissioner by Gov. Hill.

It was this caucus that rejected the name, and Fassett voted with the men whose opposition epigrammatically voiced in the caucus in the words, "No greasy throttle jerker is wanted in that office."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.-The fact that J. S. Clarkson dined with the President last evening has started all sorts of gossip with regard to the Republican situation in the various States, and the effort of Mr. Harrison to secure a renomination. Mr. Clarkson has not had much love for the President since he declined to put him into the Cabinet, and it is generally understood that the Clarkson men are not particularly strong friends of the Administration. The Republican National Committee will meet here in a few weeks, and it is not at all unlikely that Mr. Clarkson will be chosen Chairman in place of Senator Quay, who resigned last summer. Mr. Clarkson is President of the League of the Republican Clubs, and his friends say that he has no ambition to be Chairman Quay's successor. However, his selection is not impossible. Senator Quay is in the city to-day arranging for the meeting of the National Committee and urging the appointment of various Pennsylvania Republicans to Federal places. a renomination.
